What Is Content Camp?

Content Camp is the first live workshop-style conference designed exclusively for experienced, successful micro business owners who are ready to take their business to the next level and reach more clients and customers with strategic content.

The working conference will bring together 150 creative entrepreneurs, freelancers, and micro agencies from a variety of industries for three powerful days to not only gather insights on content strategy, blogging, and content marketing but to work on their business.

Every detail of the event — from the beautiful venue and the carefully crafted curriculum to the networking and training materials — is crafted to provide attendees a remarkable experience.

Attendees will be:

- Challenged to think about their business and customers in a whole new way
- Exposed to new frameworks for content creation and delivery
- Guided through hands-on exercises that will have a critical impact on their content
- Encouraged to invest in new ways to achieve their goals
- Inspired to take bold action

And, attendees will be taking action and working on their content at the event.

Content Camp is breaking the typical conference mold, and in the process, creating an exciting opportunity for sponsoring companies.

Instead of listening to a lineup of speakers, taking copies notes, and leaving with too many things to do and feelings of overwhelm, at Content Camp, attendees will be gaining clarity, working on their businesses, and creating momentum — they will leave having already taken meaningful action that will make an immediate difference.

The goal is to also connect attendees with sponsoring companies that can support their content marketing objectives and help drive their businesses forward.
